Yank Storm Into Cologne

By JAMES M. LONG

PARIS, March 5 (AP)—American tanks and infantry stormed into Cologne at 7:10 a. m. today in a final powerful attack on the great Rhineland metropolis and slowly fought toward the heart of Germany's fourth largest city. The final assault started in the cold darkness at 4 a. m.

RUSSIAN FRONT—Soviet forces have reached the Baltic coast near Kolberg in a 62-mile break-through which has entrapped nearly 200,000 Nazis in the sector. Koelsin was captured in the drive through Pomerania. The lower wing of this drive is within 15 miles of Berlin.

Zhukov Seizes Key to Stettin

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—Marshal Zhukov's big guns have begun shelling the suburbs of Stettin east of the Oder, Moscow dispatches said today, and the Berlin high command pronounced fall of Stargard, a fortress 19 miles east of that big Baltic port.

After plunging triple spearheads to the Baltic the Russians were reported launching two powerful attacks—one north between Stettin and the Oder toward Stettin, and the other west, from the Baltic footholds, toward Stettin.

Advanced units were in sight of Stettin bay.

Two Russian spearheads on the Baltic, near Malberg and at Koelsin, have been supplemented by a third farther east between Koelsin and Schlauke, the Germans reported.

Stargard, one of the most important outer defenses of Stettin, was taken after a brief street fight, Berlin announced, by Zhukov's First White Russian army.

Capture of the city of 35,000 beheaded down one of the chief obstacles to a direct Russian attack on Stettin, under threat from Russian forces which had approached to within 14 miles on the south and were in position to push to the city from the north-east.

Marshal Rokossovsky's Second White Russian Army, overrunning 10 localities in a four-day, 62-mile advance which left piles of trucks dead in its wake, reached the Baltic at two places.

The cutting of land communications of perhaps 200,000 German troops in eastern Pomerania, Danzig and the Polish corridor in one of the biggest encirclement operations of the Eastern Front was announced by Moscow.

The Russians were striking to-

Danes on Job

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, March 5 (AP)—A special communique today said the Danish underground was attacking German troop movements so effectively not a single train is able to reach Germany without having been delayed.

The troop movements presumably were related to the withdrawal of German divisions from Norway for defense of the Reich.

ward two steppingstone islands which would give them control of Stettin bay and permit them to deny Stettin port facilities to the enemy even if Stettin itself held out. It is on the west side of the Oder.

The islands are Wollin and Usedom, which separate Stettin bay, north of Stettin, from the sea. The heavily fortified U-boat and seaplane base of Swinemunde is on Usedom, westernmost of the two islands.

The fate of Danzig, too, appeared to have been sealed by the dash to the Baltic, although a street fight might be necessary before the ancient city is occupied by the Russians.

Another Italian Hill Won by 5th

ROME, March 4 (AP)—American Fifth Army troops have captured another dominating hill position—Monte Della Croce—and improved their position west of the Bologna-Pistoia highway with capture of small villages, headquarters announced today.

On the Adriatic sector Eighth Army units comprised of Italian infantry and British artillery and tanks have further cleared forests south of the Po in the Fiumara river, taking 300 prisoners.

Maj. Gen. Maurice Rose's Third Armored Division passed the city limits, striking from the north through the suburb of Bockelemeund. There the tanks were about three miles from the towering gothic cathedral in the heart of Cologne, long the most-ravaged city of the Rhineland.

House-to-house fighting was touched off quickly, AP Correspondent Don Whitehead, with the First Army, reported.

Cologne lay under a pall of smoke. The thunder of battle was rolling across the city in increasing fury as the Americans closed in for the kill on the 11th day of their great drive from the Roer river, 21 miles behind.

To the north, the American Ninth Army captured Homburg, a manufacturing west bank suburb of Duisburg, and the approaches to two Rhine bridges. Lt. Gen. Simpson's men stood on the Rhine for 15 miles, and Canadians farther north held another 32-mile stretch of the meandering west banks.

Germans surrendered by the thousands; the total in the offensive passed 60,000. A blackout was imposed partially on Third Army movements toward Goblitz and the middle Rhine, suggesting an imminent breakthrough there. The Seventh Army fought in the Siegfried line just outside the Saar capital of Saarbrücken, which was under heavy artillery fire.

Artillery also was pouring heavy fire in massed salvos from American guns wheel to wheel outside Cologne, ringed on all its sides west of the Rhine.

Cologne, a city of 768,000, is surpassed in Germany only by Berlin (4,332,000), Hamburg (1,918,000) and Munich (825,332).

Some 4000 desperately fighting Germans were trapped outside the city when the Third Armored Division cut the last road leading to the Hohenzollern bridge across the Rhine, 1300 to 1700 feet wide at Cologne.

Infantry of the Ninth Army captured western approaches to two Rhine bridges in the cross-river suburbs of Duisburg in the victory in which Homburg was taken.

The Germans said Rhine bridges at Duisburg had been destroyed, leaving crossings only at Wesel and Cologne.

A great artillery duel raged across the Rhine and the Germans broadcast unsubstantiated reports the Americans already had won their first crossing. At supreme headquarters this was regarded as unlikely but a sign of how the Nazis are thinking.

Southwest of Cologne, the First Army captured the prize transit center of Euskirchen, ERF river junction of eight military highways and three railroads and the home of many foundries and metal factories.

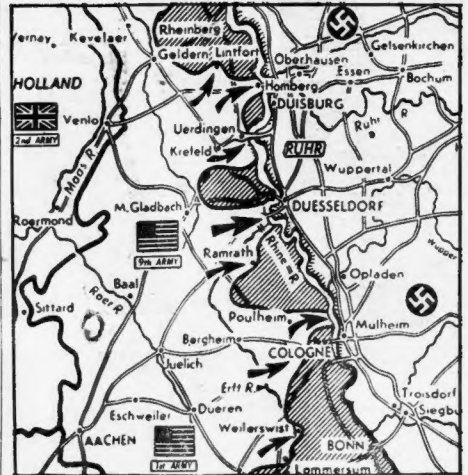

Allied arms made new deep stabs into the shrinking German bridgehead on the west bank of the lower Rhine between Xanten and Homburg, suburb of Duisburg.

Troops Man Docks In London Strike

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—More than 3000 British soldiers worked on London's docks today to move war supplies held up by a strike of 7000 workers, the National Dock Labor Corp. reported. J. Donovan, secretary of the Transport and General Workers' Union, said:

"None of the men who came out on strike has resumed work today, but I believe there is a fair chance that they will return tomorrow morning."

WESTERN FRONT—Yank troops today battled their way into the great German city of Cologne while Ninth Army forces attempt to bridge the Rhine near Duesseldorf and Krefeld against heavy enemy resistance. Tanks of the First Army plunged to the Rhine a few miles north of Cologne, splitting the defending Nazi forces.

Formosa, Tokyo Raked by Bombs

By Associated Press

Hopeless counter-attacks and Filipino guerrillas added new thousands to Japanese dead on two island and the Philippines as the increasing tempo of the American air onslaught forced Japan to close primary schools in Formosa today and organize Tokyo students into full-time fire brigades.

Tokyo announced the school closures shortly after waves of B-29's struck the capital through snow clouds Sunday morning, and all types of bombers raked air-dromes the length of Formosa. Ten more B-29's raided Tokyo again today, the Japs said.

Reorganized Japanese on two stiffened their resistance and held three American Marine divisions to local gains, but their known dead amounted to 12,864.

Thousands of other Japs have been killed by Filipino guerrillas in northeastern Luzon, more than 100 miles behind the battle lines, Gen. MacArthur said. He reported the guerrillas, led by American officers and supported by U. S. planes, had inflicted "extraordinarily heavy losses."

Off the southern tip of Luzon, the American division seized two more islands—Ticao and Burias.

On the central Luzon front, the Dismounted First Cavalry and Sixth Infantry Division broke up a series of counterattacks with heavy enemy losses. Three other Yank columns pressed through mountain passes toward northern Luzon, where Gen. Yamashita has concentrated his main forces.

"Severe" Jap losses were reported from Burma as British troops closed in on Mandalay. Others pressed 130 miles south of Mandalay. Chinese laid siege to Lashio, communications center in northeast Burma.

In the steadily increasing Philippines-based air raids on Formosa, 32 enemy planes were destroyed.

In two days, Philippines-based planes sank eight Jap ships, liberated out of China, where Chiang Kai-shek's forces drove toward recapture of a U. S. air base, sank another.

More than 150 Superforts made yesterday's raid on Tokyo. It was their first early morning strike in 11 attacks on the enemy capital. They fought sleet, hail, snow and subzero temperatures, but met no enemy fighters and little anti-aircraft fire. Tokyo said Nagoya, Toyohashi and Hamamatsu were also bombed.

Only one B-29 was lost. It crashed on the way back, but the crew was saved. Another, piloted by Lt. Raymond F. Malo of Danville, Ill., landed on two for repairs.

Two's bomber field, from which the Japanese once sent raiders against B-29 bases in the Marianas, is being used by American hospital planes to evacuate the wounded.

HEADS PACIFIC AIR FORCE

Maj. Gen. Willis H. Hale has been named commander of the Army Air Forces, Pacific Ocean area, according to an Army announcement today. He succeeds Lt. Gen. Millard Harmon who is missing on a flight in the Pacific. Hale is also deputy commander of the B-29 20th Air Force.

HELD IN MARIJUANA PROBE—Film actress Lorna Gray, 23, today is being held by Los Angeles police on suspicion of violating the state narcotics law. Miss Gray was arrested with Ruel F. Una Merkel's Mother Suicide

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Mrs. Arno Merkel, 70, was found dead in her gas-filled kitchen today and her daughter, stage and screen actress Una Merkel Burla, 41, was found unconscious in the bedroom of their 16th floor apartment in Central Park south.

The actress was revived by an inhalator squad in half an hour. She was taken to Roosevelt Hospital, where her condition was reported as good.

Police of the West 54th st. station said the mother had committed suicide and that the daughter was overcome accidentally.

They said they found a note on a living room table, written in pencil and not very legible, but they were able to make out the words: "I'm ill and can't take it any more. Forgive me."

Police said they assumed the note was written by Mrs. Merkel and that it also made references to disposition of money and jewelry.

The body of Mrs. Merkel was found after a watchman reported he had smelled gas coming from the Merkel apartment.

Mrs. Merkel's body, dressed in a blue and white housecoat, lay on the floor and police said four jets of the range and one for the oven were open. Police said the woman also had slashed her wrists and a razor blade was found on the edge of the stove.

The actress, in nightclothing, was in bed. The house physician of the Essex House, in which the apartment is located, was called and he sent in a call for a police emergency squad.

The mother and daughter had lived in the apartment since last May.

Police said four relatives had been notified, including Mrs. Merkel's husband, who, they said, was staying at the Reformer Hotel, Mexico City. Relationship of the others was not designated. They include William Thayer of Hartford, Ct.

4 Tons Coal Dumped in Parlor

Before Homer J. Ferron of Seventh st., South Boston, left for work today he said to his wife: "We have been expecting that coal every day but come yet. Why don't you telephone the coal company?"

"Oh," said Mrs. Ferron, "it will come all right. Let's wait and see if it doesn't come today."

Mr. Ferron shrugged and went off to work. Mrs. Ferron set about her housewifely duties.

She was working happily among her pots and pans when there was a crash in the parlor, a noise the likes of which prompted startled neighbors to throw open windows for a look in either direction.

Mrs. Ferron ran to the parlor. Where the front wall had been, there was the rear end of a coal truck. On her rug, divan, chairs and other furniture and fixtures was a magnificent mass of coal, four tons in all. Mrs. Ferron could hardly see

The coal was still there an hour later, while the coal company, the police, the driver and Mrs. Ferron talked over the situation and decided how amends might best be made—and how to take four tons of coal out of a parlor.

Battle on Job Draft Opens in Hub Court

The War Manpower Commission's right to draft workers into vital war jobs faced its first legal test in federal court here today where government officials gathered to combat a move of the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, success of which threatens to jeopardize the nation's manpower program.

Seeking to halt the WMC's efforts to force New Bedford's textile workers into third shift jobs at the Fisk and Firestone tire fabric plants there, the union asked Judge Charles E. Wyzanski, Jr., for an injunction to restrain the WMC from carrying out its "work or loaf" directive.

At the same time, Judge Wyzanski will rule on a motion brought by Paul N. Devine, New Bedford area director of the WMC, asking that the CIO suit be dismissed. Devine contends that the court here lacks jurisdiction and also that the suit, in effect, is against the government, which cannot be sued without its consent.

Nationwide attention is focused on Judge Wyzanski's rulings because of the sweeping importance of the decisions on the manpower program and on work-or-fight legislation now before Congress.

Alfred Berg and Irving Brand of the U. S. Attorney General's office arrived here from Washington to assist in presentation of the government's case. Attorneys were also present to represent the New Bedford mills involved.

Isadore Katz, counsel for the Textile Workers' Union, who seeks to have the WMC directive declared unconstitutional, maintains the directive "is unlawful and in violation of the executive order itself," and that no one has authority to enforce it.

While defending its policy in court today, the WMC was continuing with plans to continue the labor draft in New Bedford and has asked the management of 10 cotton mills for a second list of 90 workers to be transferred to the tire plants.

Only one of the original 90 called up agreed to accept transfer, and their appeals are now before Director McNutt for decision. Interviews of the second group are scheduled to begin in New Bedford Wednesday.

Meanwhile, in a counter move further complicating the controversy, it was learned that the TWUA, at a conference attended by Emil Rieve, national president, has drafted new wage demands beyond the scope of the Little Steel formula.

Labor spokesmen said the new schedules are aimed both at halting the drafting of labor from fine goods mills into tire fabric plants, and at increasing minimums of 60 cents an hour to meet a rise in production demanded as a result of OPA orders for more low-priced cotton and rayon clothing.

House of Lords Appeal Denied Hulten, Dancer

Appeals to the British House of Lords for clemency have been denied to Pvt. Karl G. Hulten, Cambridge paratrooper, and Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, strip-tease dancer, doomed to hang Thursday for murder, according to an announcement today from London.

Disclosure of the denial of the petitions came as Hulten awaited developments on another appeal, flown from America by Army bomber to Ambassador Winant for presentation to the British Home Secretary.

Ending of recourse to the House of Lords was announced by Donald Somervell, attorney general, who said he had refused certificates for such appeal.

As interest mounted in the case with the date of execution drawing near, London was stirred by a letter to the London Times from George Bernard Shaw, expressing his views on the death sentence and suggesting his belief the girl should be executed in some less unpleasant way.

Declaring that present methods of execution were "horrible and disgusting," Shaw asserted:

"If the strip-tease girl had been told simply that her case was under consideration and she were presently to be found dead in her bed some morning in a quite comfortable lethal chamber not known to her to be such, the relief to the public conscience would be enormous."

Shaw expressed belief some form of euthanasia for lunatics, idiots and "intolerable nuisances" must be approved eventually by civilized communities. Present executions, he said, were the same as 2000 years ago.

"We have before us the case of a girl whose mental condition unfit her to live in a civilized community," he declared. "She has been guilty of theft and murder, and apparently her highest ambition is to be what she calls a gun moll—a woman who thinks robbery and murder are delightfully romantic professions.

"Clearly we have either to put such a character to death or re-educate her. Having no technique of re-education immediately available, we have decided to put her to death."

"The decision is a sensible one as the alternative is to waste useful lives in caging and watching her as a tigress in a zoo must be caged and watched."

The paratrooper and Mrs. Jones were condemned to hang after being convicted of the murder of George Heath, London cabdriver, last October.

United Nations on those guilty of starting and continuing the war, Pravda said, adding:

"The U. S. S. R. has made a list of its war criminals and also has started to establish its rights to punish them and their associates."

The Soviet newspaper said other countries had taken these steps in the handling of war guilt cases:

France has established courts for handling collaborators.

Poland has set up special courts. Yugoslavia has commenced to punish war criminals.

Czechoslovakia has a list of 2000 war criminals.

The Netherlands has set up a court but has made slow progress thus far.

Bulgaria has sentenced in Sofia three ex-regents, 22 ministers and 68 Fascist deputies "and these sentences have been carried out."

Finland has detained 34 war criminals and has indicted 72.

Liberated Hungary has passed sentences.

Romania has taken no real steps to punish war guilty, Pravda said, adding Romania was where the main war criminals were arrested by the Red army.

A. L. Backs Swiss Plan for U. S.

By DAN MARKEL

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, March 5—Congress must enact a program of universal military training or America will be compelled after the war to fall back on her pre-war policy of humiliating compromise and appeasement, Edward N. Scheiberling, national commander of the American Legion, says.

The national commander pointed out small Switzerland, with her famous system of nationwide citizen military service, has lived in peace and security for nearly a century and a half while the world about her has waged devastating war.

The Legion's program for universal training is similar to the Swiss system and its major objective is identical—to safeguard, through the strength of its people, their homes and the nation.

OWI Lists Ways You Can Aid Home Front This Week

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The Office of War Information said today:

"The government needs and asks its citizens in this 169th week of the war to:

"Return to sea duty if you are an engineering or deck officer. Our merchant marine urgently needs 18,000 licensed men to sail ships carrying war cargoes to combat areas.

"Address overseas mail clearly, correctly and completely to avoid delays and disappointments. One slight error may easily cause a letter to travel 30,000 extra miles.

"Make our your income tax return now to save time and last-minute confusion. Everyone whose income was $500 or more last year must file a return by March 15.

"Buy only what you really need this Easter. Dollars unnecessarily spent contribute to inflation; dollars saved help finance the war.

"Help relieve the nursing crisis. All women, young or old, trained or untrained, can participate in one of the eight war nursing programs. Inquire at local Red Cross."

Watertown Man's Fast Action Nips Fire in Home

With his three sons in the Navy and his wife in the WACS, Oliver W. Barchard, 17 Paul st., Watertown, has to meet household emergencies himself these days. And he was right on the ball at 4 o'clock this morning.

He awoke with the feeling something was wrong in his second floor apartment, so he got out of bed and opened a door to the living room. A blast of flame nearly singed his hair. He slammed the door.

Then he:

- 1—Pulled on his trousers.
- 2—Made a rope of bedclothes and anchored it to the bed.
- 3—Shinned to the ground.
- 4—Aroused the first-floor tenants, Mr. and Mrs. Everett W. Hersey, and their two small children.
- 5—Called the fire department, which put out the fire.
- 6—Went back to bed.

The damage was $750.

Survivor Writes Own Story Of Japs' Palawan Massacre

Searing details of the wholesale murder of 150 American marines, soldiers and sailors by their Jap captors in a prison camp on Palawan were told in Los Angeles by a marine, one of five to escape the bloody slaughter. He is Sgt. Douglas W. Bogue, 26, taken prisoner at Corregidor.

By SGT. DOUGLAS W. BOGUE

U. S. Marine Corps

(Copyright by Los Angeles Examiner—Reproduction prohibited)

LOS ANGELES, March 5—It all started Dec. 13, 1944. A Jap seaplane operating from Puerto Princessa Bay spotted a large American convoy steaming through the Sulu Sea.

It landed troops on Mindoro island to the north, but the Japs feared it was headed for Palawan.

An old constabulary was our prison—a small area atop a bluff overlooking the bay and hemmed off by interwoven wire seven feet high.

We were routed out at 5:30 and marched to work as customary. But the Japs seemed nervous and we couldn't figure it.

That afternoon they ordered us back in—a most unusual thing—and told us to get into our air raid shelters because hundreds of American airplanes were coming.

Our shelters were three covered trenches, each five feet wide, four feet deep and long enough to care for 50 men.

"Get down and don't look out," a Jap officer commanded, swinging a sword at the head of a Yank who peered back.

And then we heard it—a dull, muffled sort of boom, and then machine gun and rifle fire.

I looked out. Screaming headlights were pouring gasoline into a shelter and tossing torches inside. When Yanks in flames came scrambling out, they mowed them down.

A Jap machine gun had been set up just outside the fence near us, away from the bay side.

I ducked back. "They're butchering everyone," I said. "It can't be, Bogue. It can't be," one of my two pals cried. "My God, how are we going to get out of here?"

"There's only one way," I yelled. "Follow me."

And with that I lurched out and dived through the barbed wire fence, shouting: "You can make it now."

But they didn't. Neither one. How those machine gun bullets missed me, I'll never know, but I hit the incline below and tumbled to the coral rocks.

Then I started back to the right around the shoreline. Two other men sprawled down from above.

"My God, Bogue," whispered

one, "what are we going to do?"

"We're going to swim," said the other, and leaped into the water.

He hadn't gone 20 feet when he yelled: "They got me. So long."

The other chap didn't even get into the water. He fell on the rock at the edge.

I worked around the end of a point and ran into three Jap sailors with a Lewis gun. In a flash I saw the actuator wasn't back. The gun couldn't fire until it was.

That's all the time I needed. I piled right on top of the Jap with the gun, and the four of us wrestled in the water.

Raring back, I wrenched the gun free and into the water, with a Jap clinging to my back.

The other two started to run and then the third one let go and I started shooting. All three of them fell.

By now I was sick. The drum fell off the machine gun and I threw it away. Somehow I found a crevice in the rocks and stayed there. Japs were pulling men out of the rocks all around me, pouring gasoline on their arms and feet and then lighting it. Those back in the air raid shelters who didn't come out were dynamited.

Any minute I thought they'd spot me. A patrol sloshed by and I could have reached out and touched the canteen of a Jap.

It was 3 o'clock now and I stayed there until about 9 p. m. My legs and feet had been bleeding. They were all cut to pieces by the wire and sharp coral.

High tide forced me out of hiding. The Japs above were yelling like maniacs. I ran into four other Americans and we held a powwow. We decided we had to swim for it.

I can paddle only a few feet, but a small log washed in and I started to swim. A sailor, CRM Fern Joseph Barta, went with me.

We soon became separated and the tide washed me out toward sea and across. I was leached at daylight five miles from my starting point, but across the bay.

I couldn't get up out of the water for another hour. Then, without a stitch of clothing, I plunged into a mango swamp.

Iwahig was the only place where there was food, I knew, and started for it.

For five days and nights I was in the jungle. Maggots got into my wounds. Honey bees attacked and I had to plunge into the nearby bay where the salt water drew out the poison.

I drank rain water caught in small hollows and ate raw mud snails from the beach.

The morning of the sixth day I was ready to fold up. My toes were blown up like balloons—they didn't even touch the ground.

Then suddenly I came upon the Filipino tuberculosis colony. There was a man working along the beach. When he got near me, I hollered. I didn't care who it was—even a Jap.

He was one of the colony members. He took me to the village. Marine Pvt. Gianni W. McDolo already was there. He had landed exhausted on a fish trap and natives had found him.

They kept him hidden in their huts until they got word to the guerrillas.

Then CRM Barta was brought in, badly hurt. But he lived. We all three lived.

We even stayed in a Moro village with 200 Japs a stone's throw away. We rode on a carabao and on horseback until we reached Brooks Point.

Belmont Hero Tells Of Bastogne Stand

A Belmont mother proudly fingered letters and clippings freshly arrived from Europe's Western Front today, and well she might—they came from one of the epic defenders at Bastogne.

The mother is Mrs. Harry Garafano of Trowbridge st., and the writer was her son, PFC Frank Garafano, of the 502nd Paratroop Infantry, who doesn't think he's a hero at all.

The paratrooper, who joined up more than four years ago, went into France on D-Day and later dropped into Holland, where he fought for 68 days.

Garafano's outfit was resting up in France when the German break-through came so unexpectedly. It was dropped once more into the thick of battle in a desperate effort to halt the Nazis.

For one week at Bastogne they fought tooth and nail, sometimes without food, while entirely surrounded by the heaviest of German armor. But they refused to surrender and held out until rescue finally came—frustrating German plans that might have carried the Nazi attackers all the way to Antwerp.

That's all history now, but Garafano wanted his "Mom" and his father, Harry, to see pictures of what had happened.

"They say we made history by stopping the Jerries," he writes. "All I know is that we were surrounded for a week and we never stopped fighting. I do know they seem to give us the dirty work when the Jerries have to be stopped, but that's all part of war."

A graduate of Belmont High School, Garafano now is 29 years old and before enlisting was employed at the General Electric plant in Lynn.

He has two brothers in the Army, Cpl. Carmen in the European area, and Cpl. Richard, in the Pacific.

Capone Gang Is Linked To Boston Meat Racket

Boston's huge counterfeit red-ration racket, uncovered last week, was disclosed by OPA authorities today as the initial step in the launching of a conspiracy in which remnants of the old Capone gang of Chicago planned to flood the nation with billions of bogus points.

OPA agents have been congregated in Chicago and New York in an intensive probe to find the brains behind the racket, which would have channeled tons of meat into black market outlets and eventually have destroyed the structure of meat rationing throughout the nation, OPA officials said.

Direct linking of the remnants of the once powerful underworld legions of Al Capone with the racket was disclosed in the seizure in Chicago of 500,000,000 counterfeit coupons.

Boston had been chosen as the "test city" in the conspiracy, OPA authorities declared, and the huge Chicago seizure came just as the phony points began to appear in ration bank accounts of butchers and meat dealers in the Faneuil Hall district.

The counterfeit stamps taken in Chicago in a raid on the apartment of an Italian alien, a resident of this country since 1907 and often linked with Capone gang operations in the prohibition era, were neatly packaged in brown paper bags, similar to the packaging of bogus stamps sold to dealers in Boston, authorities declared.

The alien, his wife and two sons were arrested by federal authorities and their cases are being held up pending completion of the investigation which has become nationwide.

Also disclosed was a Feb. 10 raid in New York in which printing and other counterfeiting equipment for producing phony stamps was seized and the arrest in that city almost two weeks later of four meat dealers and nine peddlars of the bogus red points.

Five men already are being held here as key figures in the Boston conspiracy and a sixth is expected to surrender tomorrow as authorities probed the connection of John McKenzie, racket man and State Prison parolee who was slain in a Medford kitchen last January with the fake stamp ring.

One of the five, John Ruggiero, 40, of George st., Medford, already has confessed, according to Asst. U. S. Atty. Gottlieb, that he purchased 500,000 of the phony stamps from McKenzie shortly before he was murdered.

Twelve other men are expected to be arrested in connection with the Boston investigation, OPA officials said, and listed them as suspected peddlars of the fake stamps.

Between 75 and 100 Boston firms, which are alleged to have purchased the fake stamps, which PRINCESS IN WAR JOB—Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the British Empire, is a trainee in the Auxiliary Territorial Service, the British equivalent to the U. S. the sellers declared were genuine but stolen, face suspension orders, according to Cornelius J. Moynihan, OPA enforcement attorney.

However, he said, no action of any kind in their cases will be taken until the completion of the criminal phases of the investigation.

When that is completed the OPA will hold hearings in the cases of the butchers and meat dealers involved and impose penalties, the most severe of which will be the denial of the privilege of dealing in rationed foods for the duration.

Dresden 'Dead City,' Say Nazis

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—A German war correspondent said today that Dresden, chief city of Saxony, was wiped out by Allied air attacks on Feb. 14 and 15 and that "tens of thousands" of its citizens were buried under the ruins.

"Dresden is a catastrophe without precedent," asserted Rudolf Sparing of the Transocean propaganda agency. "The town area is devoid of human life. A great city has been wiped from the map of Europe."

He said that not a single block of buildings remained intact or capable of reconstruction in the city, which he estimated had a population of 1,000,000 before the raids, including 600,000 refugees from the east.

MOVIE PIONEER DEAD

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—George Black, 51, one of Britain's best known theatrical producers and directors, died last night after a protracted illness. He and his father established the first permanent motion picture theaters in Britain.

Three Killed In Crash at Bridgewater

BRIDGEWATER, March 5—Two men and a woman, all of Brockton, were killed today and two others, men from Roxbury and Brockton, were critically injured, when their automobile crashed into the rear of a parked truck in Bedford st., a link of Route 28 here.

Dead were: JAMES F. BUCKLEY of 29 Waverly st., Brockton, former shoe manufacturer, who had been serving as an Army shoe inspector.

FRANK McLEOD of 21 Ellis st., Brockton, driver of the car and a New Bedford shoe plant superintendent.

MRS. MARGARET PERKINS, of Crescent st., Brockton, an employee of the New Bedford plant.

On the danger list at St. Luke's Hospital, Middleboro, were John Ross of Roxbury and Daniel Adams of Center st., Brockton, employees of the New Bedford shoe plant. Both suffered severe head injuries.

The accident occurred shortly after dawn.

Martin J. Wilby, Jr., 19, of Forest Hills st., Jamaica Plain, driver of the truck, said he had pulled to the side of the road because he ran out of gasoline. Wilby said he left the truck and was looking for a telephone so he might contact a garage, when the crash occurred.

According to police the victims were en route from Brockton to the New Bedford shoe factory.

Trucker Drowns In River Plunge

RUSSELL, March 5—Trapped in the cab when his truck plunged into the Westfield river today after an accident in which six others were injured, Norman Bergeron, 35, of Labelle st., West Springfield, was drowned in 20 feet of water.

The six injured, riding in a sedan which was in collision with the truck on a curve, were taken to Noble Hospital, Westfield, for cuts and possible internal injuries.

All West Springfield residents, they are Robert W. Cizek, 40, and his wife, Ella, 38, of Wilder ter.; Selectman Reed C. Aseltine, 50; and his wife, Margaret, 48, of Talcott ave., and John Beckwith, 45, and his wife Ruthella, 43, of Woodmont st.

State Police said after the collision the heavy trailer truck, operated by Bergeron, sideswiped three telephone line poles, plunged over a 50-foot embankment and smashed through the ice.

Troopers are grappling for the driver's body.

Former Italy Fascist Official Escapes

ROME, March 5 (AP)—Gen. Mario Roatta, former head of the Fascist secret service and army chief of staff, escaped last night from a hospital where he had been held during his trial on war crime charges.

The escape occurred shortly after a visit with his wife, who is held for questioning. All hospital lights went out and the escape was discovered an hour later.

Week's 6 Auto Deaths Lift Year's Toll to 61

Motor vehicles claimed six lives in Massachusetts last week,

12 less than in the corresponding period a year ago, Registrar Rudolph F. King announced today. He said the fatalities brought auto deaths this year to 61 as compared with 88 in the same period last year.

High Schools Start Oratory Contest

Students in 24 Boston high schools were enthusiastically beginning competitions today in the William Randolph Hearst Oratorical Contest, with a thrilling week-long airline tour of Mexico and a $3000 war bond as their goals.

These are the top national prizes in the great contest, which is now starting all over the country.

Awarding of the Mexican tour as a prize is particularly appropriate in that this year's contest is dedicated to James Monroe, fifth president of the United States, who first achieved Pan-American solidarity through the Monroe Doctrine.

On their trip to the southern republic, the winning national high school contestant and the champion college contestant will stop at the best hotels and see all places of interest.

Throughout the Boston public schools, headmasters have been authorized by Supt. Arthur J. Gould of the school committee to conduct their intramural contests. Results of these local contests—the winners—are to be forwarded to the Oratorical Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston. The contest is being locally sponsored by the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser.

In Faneuil Hall on April 10, students in both high school and college groups will compete for the eastern zone contests to be held April 10 in New York. The winners in each zone will be eligible for the national contest.

In the national contests, a total of $25,000 in War Bonds will be awarded in the 13 competing cities. Local prizes in Boston, equally divided between the college and high school groups, will be: First, $250; second, $100; third, $75; fourth, $50; fifth, $25. National prizes, also in War Bonds include $100 to all runners-up in the national finals; $50 to all qualifying for the eastern zone finals, in which the local winners of Boston, New York, Albany and Baltimore will compete; $50 to all students who qualify in their local zone finals.

Devoted to U. S.

James Monroe in his devotion to the young republic of the United States neglected his private affairs. He made heavy disbursements of his own money on his various missions to Europe as envoy to France, England and Spain.

He experienced considerable pecuniary embarrassment in his later years, and was compelled to ask Congress to reimburse him for his expenses in the public service.

Congress in 1826 authorized the payment of $50,000 to Monroe, and after his death appropriated a small amount for purchase of his papers from his heirs.

Monroe is described as about six feet in height, stoop-shouldered and ungainly. His eyes, greyish blue, were deep and kindly; his face was delicate, naturally refined, and premaritely lined.

Claire Studies Aid By British Women

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Rep. Clare Boothe Luce has gone to London by plane on invitation of the British embassy to study and report on the part British women in uniform have played in their country's war effort.

The Republican Congresswoman from Connecticut said she deemed the subject "very important to a fuller understanding between the women of our two nations."

Mrs. Luce, who visited England and European battlefronts in November and December as a member of the House military committee, expects to be gone three or four weeks on the current trip.

Urges Broader GI Bill Benefits

By DAN MARKEL
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, March 5—Widows of America's brave men who have given their lives fighting for their country should be entitled to the loan and educational benefits offered veterans under the GI Bill of Rights, Sen. Magnuson (D.) of Washington declared today.

The costs would be relatively small, Magnuson explained, $50 a month for widows without dependents, $75 a month for those with children. Widows who developed some skill or profession through this education thus would be able to support themselves and families at much higher standards than would ever be possible if they are required to subsist on small pensions or meagre monthly insurance payments.

Women's Groups Will Meet At Archbishop's Residence

Members of Catholic women's groups and military auxiliaries will be guests of Abp. Cushing at gatherings to be held at the Episcopal residence, Commonwealth ave., Brighton, it was announced today. The plan establishes a precedent in the Boston archdiocese.

The first such gathering will be held on Easter Saturday, when members of the WAVES serving in Greater Boston have been invited to be guests of the archbishop. Arrangements for their visit will be made through the League of Catholic Women.

Archbishop Cushing disclosed his plans for the use of the episcopal residence, with its spacious, landscaped grounds, in inviting members of the Guild of St. Radegonde for Nurses to hold their spring meeting there.

The archbishop extended the invitation at the conclusion of an address to more than 400 members of the Guild attending a Communion Breakfast at the Copley Plaza Hotel.

Later, Archbishop Cushing stated that the graduating classes of Regis College and Emmanuel College were among the groups to be invited.

In his address to the nurses, Archbishop Cushing lauded their profession as among the highest callings of womanhood, declaring there are saints in the making among nurses ministering to the wounded on World War II battlefronts.

Destroyer Honors Newtonville Hero

The destroyer USS Hanson, honoring the late Lt. Robert Murray Hanson, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, of Newtonville, will be launched at the Bath Iron Works next Sunday, the First Naval District announced today.

Lt. Hanson, killed in action Feb. 3, 1944, when his plane crashed into the sea while on a mission over Rabaul, New Britain, was the son of Rev. and Mrs. Harry A. Hanson. He was born in India when his parents were serving there as Methodist missionaries. His mother will sponsor the destroyer.

Coal Conferees Battle Crisis

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)

—Coal operators and miners began closed-door negotiations of a new contract today amid indications of an early break in the logjam of wage cases involving so-called fringe awards.

An informed source said Economic Stabilizer Vinson and the WLB shortly may reach agreement taking WLB out from under a directive giving the OPA veto power over such fringe awards.

Red Cross Fund Reports Set for Luncheon Tuesday

Reports of progress in the $4,192,600 Greater Boston Red Cross War Fund will be made tomorrow at 12:30 p. m., at the first report luncheon of the campaign at the Boston City Club.

Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, Episcopal bishop of Massachusetts, will be principal speaker. Phillips Ketchum, general chairman of the drive, will preside. The luncheon will be dedicated to the Commerce and Industry and Special Gifts departments, and large numbers of workers from these groups are expected.

Scattered reports from the 22 chapters allied in the Greater Boston campaign indicated to officials at War Fund headquarters that the 26-day drive had made an encouraging start over the week-end. Taking advantage of the first Sunday in the drive more than 30,000 volunteers made their initial efforts to contact homes in 43 Greater Boston communities.

Hurling 600 workers into a one-day drive, Winchester passed its quota Sunday by collecting $32,093, which is $293 more than the total assigned for the town.

One of the leaders in the drive is Betty Dumaine of Groton, Red Cross field supervisor who has returned to Boston after 18 months in the China-Burma-India area.

Soldier Thrilled After Listening to Wedding

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., March 5.—Pvt. Harold Simpson, wounded eight times in the drive on Germany, was the happiest soldier in the hospital here today, after the thrill of attending by telephone the wedding of his sister in Danville, Va.

By arrangements made by Miss Nell Ennis, Red Cross Hospital Activities representative, he heard the wedding march, the voice of Rev. P. H. Richell, officiating clergyman, and the "I do's" of his sister Ruth and the bridegroom.

Where U. S. Units Fight Along Rhine

The position of U. S. divisions in Europe as reported today by the Associated Press:

2ND ARMORED — Cleared west bank of Rhine from Uerdingen to Neuss.

3RD ARMORED — Reached Rhine north of Cologne, cut escape road to Hohenzollern bridge.

4TH INFANTRY — Captured Schwesheim, five miles northeast of Pruem.

5TH ARMORED — Captured Repelen northeast of Homburg.

8TH INFANTRY — Took Frechen two miles from Cologne.

9TH INFANTRY — Captured Gross Vernich, north of Roer dams.

9TH INFANTRY — Captured Euskirchen, southwest of Cologne.

35TH INFANTRY — Nearer Rhine crossing at Rheinberg.

63RD INFANTRY — Repulsed Nazi counter-attack near Saarbruecken.

70TH INFANTRY — Cleared most of Forbach, fought into Stiring-Wendel.

76TH INFANTRY — Won bridgeheads over Kyll.

80TH INFANTRY — Captured Malberg, 5½ miles northeast of Bithurg.

84TH INFANTRY — Took Homburg, won bridge approaches.

87TH INFANTRY — Seized Schornfeld, eight miles northeast of Pruem.

104TH INFANTRY — Won Cologne suburb of Lovenich.

smash an Allied bridgehead once it is established across the wide, deep river.

To the south, the American Third Army advanced to three and a half miles on a 30-mile front between Pruem and Trier, capturing eight towns including Kopp, 47 miles west of Coblenz.

The Seventh Army cleared nearly all of Forbach, fought into Stiring-Wendel and shelled Saarbruecken from a mile and a half away. The destruction of Germans west of the Rhine continued apace. The Ninth, First and Third armies captured 7733 prisoners yesterday. This raised the campaign total far above 60,000. All Allied armies captured 9769 the day before. Uncounted thousands have been killed or severely wounded.

A partial blackout was imposed on movements of the Third Army, suggesting Patton's troops were fashioning another imposing break-through.

Could Cleopatra Drink a Pearl with Stomach Ulcer Pains?

An intriguing story of Cleopatra is the one where an admirer praised the beauty of two of her pearls, whereupon she dropped one into a glass of wine and drank it. She would hardly have done this had she suffered after-eating pains. Those who are distressed with stomach or ulcer pains, indigestion, gas pains, heartburn, burning sensation, flat and other conditions caused by excess acid should try Uda. Get a 250 box of Uda Tablets from your druggist. First dose must convince or return box. If we send you DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK.

Melrose Couple Buried Together

City Solicitor Harry E. Chan, 48, of Melrose, and his wife, Mrs. Ruth Thompson Cryan, 47, by side by side in graves at Wymington Cemetery today after dupe funeral services from the First Congregational Church, Melrose. The city solicitor died of a heart attack while visiting his wife who was seriously ill at Melrose Hospital. She died shortly afterward. The double funeral was arranged on such short notice that none but the immediate family was notified, and mourners, including state, city and court officials, were started to find the caskets side by side.

Convicts Accept Malaria in Test

WASHINGTON, March 5 (INS)—The National Research Council disclosed that 210 prisoners in three American penitentiaries had willingly become inoculated with the malaria germ in a gigantic experiment to try to conquer this universal malady.

The prisoners have bound themselves, the council said, to a long siege of tests which include taking untried drugs in large doses regardless of possible injury to vital organs.

The three prisons assisting in the search for a specific drug that actually will cure or prevent malaria are the U. S. penitentiary at Atlanta, the Illinois State penitentiary and the New Jersey reformatory.

4-Day Infant Dies Of Blood Conflict

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 5 (INS)—The four-day-old transfusion baby of W. O. and Mrs. William G. Colebourn died after medical science failed in a fight against a strange blood conflict.

The baby girl, born in a Caesarean operation had been kept alive by three blood transfusions given by Charles Lyons.

The infant was the victim of a blood conflict brought on by the incompatibility of her parents' blood types.

4 Girls Die in Fire While Mother Is Away

SEASIDE, Ore., March 5 (INS)—Edward Riley, member of the Seaside volunteer fire dept., came home to find his house burning and four small daughters of his family of seven children dead. The mother was away. A neighbor turned in the alarm when he heard screams and saw flames licking the roof.

Chrysler Workers End 8-Day Strike

Indians were first Scalp Specialists!

BUT I LIKE THOMAS'
METHOD BETTER

Says

MICHAEL WHALEN

Star of Broadway Hit
"TEN LITTLE INDIANS"

While history shows that the Indians were definitely the first "scalp specialists" in America, it also shows that science has come a long way since those pioneer days. The modern "scalp specialists" have no flair for the Wild West—in fact they are expert in the art of bringing soothing, restful, relief to scalps that itch and burn because of local irritation (such as dandruff).

Thomas experts have treated more than a quarter-million persons during the past 20 years (and never lost a scalp)! Such popularity is deserved . . . deserved because Thomas quickly removes those aggravating dandruff scales and leaves your scalp feeling fresh, clean, and healthy. Come in today for free consultation and advice and see for yourself exactly how this reliable, proved method works. You'll enjoy Thomas treatment!

Physician's Formula Acts
on Both Upper and Lower Bowels

Now! You can throw away harsh blasting laxatives for constipation and enjoy this Physician's own formula which works so gently yet so thoroughly—Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Olive Tablets are purely vegetable—they don't "dynamite," gripe or leave you feeling dragged out. Instead, they pep up sluggish bile flow and gently stimulate BOTH upper and lower bowels. They produce more natural-like.

Bowel movements—soft, comfortable—complete satisfaction! So take one or two tiny Olive Tablets tonight to feel "top-top" tomorrow. Caution: use as directed, 15¢, 30¢, 60¢. All drug stores.

Rites Planned for Fire Victim, Father of 5

GROTON, March 5—Funeral services were being planned today for George J. Allard, 42, of Broadway, Lowell, father of five children, who was burned to death in a woodchopper's shack here while visiting a friend, Fred Roberge, 61.

Roberge, who escaped unhurt, told police he was unable to arouse Allard, who was sleeping, and when he returned with help, the shack had burned to the ground. Allard leaves his wife, Mrs. Blanche Allard, two daughters and three sons.

SALUTE TO MacARTHUR

By HARRY H. SCHLACHT

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR restored the civil government of the Philippines to their president, Sergio Osmena.

The exercises were staged in a cavalcade of patriotic splendor.

We salute the Philippine Commonwealth. We honor those whose mingled blood was shed for the defense of America and the Philippines and for the glory of God.

We share the years of strength and sorrow. We share the years of work together.

We share the common culture of a democratic philosophy.

We share the blood brotherhood of battle. We share the common dedication to a post-war world freedom.

The Philippines will reappear more resplendent after this most dreadful war in their history.

They will be like tempered steel made strong by the purifying heat of that crucible.

Thank God for Gen. MacArthur.

The glory of his achievement is an epic. He has kept the soldier's faith.

He is the symbol of courage.

He is the representative of a great race.

He is the embodiment of the will of our country.

Posterity will chant his praises.

Our hearts are filled with reverence and love for our martyred dead.

They rewrote the song of hope.

They made it a song of victory.

They have hung the streaming emblazon of our national ensign over Manila, Bataan and Corregidor.

How fittingly the colors:

The sacred red of the heart's blood of the hero that stains the field of battle as he dies in defense of his country.

The pure white of the beautiful lily.

The true blue of the infinite heavens that arch above us.

With stars as stainless as those that shine in the fathomless depths of a cloudless night.

The day is not far distant when our troops shall be quartered in and "Old Glory" shall be unfurled over Tokyo and Berlin.

MUNICH, YALTA

PERHAPS it is only a figment of the imagination that the disbelieving spirit of Neville Chamberlain stalked the lobby of the House of Commons when British Foreign Minister Eden sought to picture the conference in the Crimea as a victory for freedom loving nations.

On the other hand, might it not have been the restless soul of the former prime minister prompting members to question the wisdom of a meeting whereat the destruction of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania was cynically accepted as a fait accompli and the dismemberment of Poland was condoned on the flimsy promise that the surviving portion of the gallant ally would be permitted to choose its own government?

What a deadly parallel seems to exist in the return of Churchill and Roosevelt from Yalta, where the fate, not of one nation, but of a minimum of five was sealed and the memory of the seven million Poles who died fighting Hitler was consigned to oblivion.

Even as Chamberlain waved the paper he had executed with Hitler promising peace in our time, the King's first minister and the President waved the agreement for the meeting of the United Nations for April 25 which, in turn, will insure "peace in our time" by underwriting with the manpower and resources of the democracies the slavery of the destroyed nations.

And, as if to add the ultimate in cynicism, it is simultaneously a fact that when the time is ripe Marshal Stalin will turn his attention to Asia and there, with the acquiescence of the world's great democracies, repossess those portions of China which the Czars had wrested from that hapless nation.

What of China's losses of millions of men and her anguish in seven years of war?

Well you must remember that in the words of President Roosevelt the Atlantic Charter was never really signed, and in the words of Prime Minister Churchill the Atlantic Charter "is a guide and not a rule."

At the moment, Foreign Minister Eden emphasizes the "Crimean Charter" is the rule and the restless spirit of Chamberlain haunts the House of Commons.

WHY A DEPARTMENT STORE has the most beautiful girl employees? This question is not mine. It has been asked in a letter by U. S. Army Cpl. William Jones of Pittsburgh, Pa., who is now in New Guinea. Cpl. Jones says he believes the most beautiful of all department store workers are the girls on the first and 11th floors of Kaufman's in Pittsburgh. I will have to check on that next time I am in that city. These young women will have to be very good looking to be more beautiful than the girls on the first floor in Bergdorf-Goodman's in New York or those on the first floor in Saks' in Beverly Hills, Cal.

ALIMONY: Am asked if there is a "Divorced Husband's Protective Ass'n." That is, an organization designed to see that ex-husbands get a fair break in the matter of alimony. I never heard of such an organization. However, at times it seems necessary. Recently a divorcee who married again wanted to keep on collecting alimony from her first husband. The judge ruled against this saying: "Two husbands should not be liable to support one woman." On the other hand another divorcee made the same plea and was successful. It was ruled her second husband did not make enough money to support her in the manner to which she had been accustomed when living with her first husband. So she was permitted to continue to collect her alimony check.

ASKING: Queries from clients: Q—Am expecting a new arrival in June. If it is a boy we have decided to let you name him. The last name is Stanley. A—Am flattered by your decision, but worried about the responsibility. Anyway, the name I suggest is Sherwood. Q—Is Johnny Hayes, the Marathon runner, still living? A—I believe Johnny is still living in Woodcliffe, N. J. It was on July 26, 1908, in London that he won the Olympic Marathon from Dorando. Incidentally, Dorando now lives in England. If you can remember the popular song, "Dorando, Don't You Stop," you can call yourself a young old-timer.

HOW ABOUT IT?—Why doesn't some inventive genius originate a comfortable sleeping garment for men? I mean something in which a man won't get all twisted up when he wants to turn over. This garment should be sleeveless. It certainly should not have any trousers connected with it. Most men who now own pajamas the trousers aside when getting ready to sleep... Did you know that Irene Dunne celebrated her 17th wedding anniversary a short while ago?

ASIDES: Medical men always strongly advise a woman not to submit to the blood test to establish paternity unless certain the defendant is the father. So it seems that when a woman does submit to the blood test she must sincerely believe that the defendant is the father. Asked seven residents of Illinois what was the largest city in their state outside of Chicago and none could answer. It is Peoria. Am still hoping that some Hollywoodian will make a film with a Peoria background. It is a very colorful and interesting place inhabited by somewhat sophisticated people.

WHO STARTED IT? Who was the first person to answer a reporter's question by saying "no comment"? He certainly has a lot of imitators. Even some Hollywood actors are using it now. If a man does not wish to talk he should try to give some explanation for his silence. When a man snaps: "No comment" that stirs the average reporter to action. He will then go the limit to get some facts so he can make some comment of his own.

BOSTON TAR BABY: A U. S. Marine wants to know if he is right in stating Sam Langford, "The Boston Tar Baby," was the shortest of all heavyweight fighters. I think that is correct. Sam, during his fighting career, was 5 feet 6 1/2 inches in height and weighed 210 pounds. I never saw Sam fight. The first heavyweight championship battle I saw was between Jack Dempsey and Luis Firpo at the Polo Grounds. Some people claim that was the greatest heavyweight fight of all. Anyway, it certainly was a close fight. I was shaking from excitement for a week after it was over.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WHETHER by superior initiative and enterprise or through flaws in their censorship, our British colleagues in the newspaper business have scooped our boys on a number of important stories both in the field and on the diplomatic front in the course of the last year.

I lean almost horizontally to the belief that our trouble has been no lack of hustle and news-sense but interference and a too-conscientious observance of the code.

However, to anyone who worked among our British brethren a quarter of a century ago or before, it is pleasantly apparent that they have stepped up their methods and pace. This is a compliment to our set because they learned it all from us.

It was the American reporter, fresh from chasing fire engines in this country and with no more reverence for a noble lord in the foreign office than for the mayor of Chicago in the City Hall, who taught them speed in delivery and punch in preparation. The process was rather painful to them at times.

A FEW WEEKS after the Easter uprising in Dublin in 1916, a small meeting was held in the office of the home secretary or colonial secretary in Whitehall, which pointed up the difference between the status and methods of native English reporters, or press men as they permitted themselves to be called, and the Americans.

Wilbur Forrest, now a distinguished executive of the N. Y. Herald-Tribune, but then of the United Press and not long out of Peoria, and some other Americans had whipped over to Dublin aboard a British man-of-war, leaving the English press flatfooted. Our cousins were quite upset and this little conference was called to thresh things out.

An English journalist, speaking for their crowd, protested to the secretary, who was, I believe, Sir Francis Younghusband, against the favoritism to the foreigners. In a wounded and by no means demanding tone he desired an explanation.

"But," the secretary said, "none of you gentlemen asked to be allowed to go. What was I to do, send for you? These American reporters came to me asking permission and transportation and I sent them on their way."

OUR ENGLISH COLLEAGUE wilted visibly. This was a revolutionary thing, press men dashing to a Cabinet member in person with such a request. The correct way would have been for one's editor to write a letter to an undersecretary, and possibly at some future time a "special representative" would have composed a scholarly and hand-wrought essay to appear back among the goiters and electric belts, as we used to say, perhaps weeks after the ashes and the story had grown cold.

Our reporters had been using the telegraph long before the speed of this remarkable invention occurred to Fleet Street. I would suppose that American reporters who covered the Civil War sometimes filed by wire.

THEY USED TO TELL of a story that broke a few years before the first World War which illustrated this amusing indifference to emphasis in the presentation of news. There had been a murder trial at Old Bailey which was duly reported with exhaustive Q. and A. by short-hand men with a lead which ran about like this: "The trial was resumed yesterday at Old Bailey of John Henry William Smith-Jones, labourer accused of the murder of his wife, Betsy," under a head which probably read "Unusual Incident."

At any rate, at the end of about two columns of letter-perfect monotony, the story related that along toward adjournment John Henry William Smith-Jones pulled a knife out of his boot and took several slices out of the judge, the prosecutor and the witness on the stand.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 5—This I call big news. Carl Laemmle, Jr., is coming back into the movies and with a property both interesting and fascinating. He plans to film the life story of Julian Eltinge, the famed Boston female impersonator.

Julian, whom I first met in Paris in 1920, could make up as the most beautiful woman in the world, and yet the very fact he could play a character of that kind ruined his life. He was a normal, red-blooded man and he fell in love with a girl. They became engaged, but her family objected, refusing to let her marry a female impersonator.

Alexis Smith

His mother, 85, is still alive and lives here, and has given her consent to putting Eltinge's story on the screen. There'll be only a few scenes showing him as an impersonator, and most of the picture will be his story of the good old theatrical days, showing all the famed people who were his friends.

THE BATTLE between blonde Alexis Smith and Warners is a thing of the past. Everybody's made up and everybody's happy. Alexis, who was suspended when she refused to do "Shadow of a Woman," is back on the Warner lot getting ready to go into "The Two Mrs. Carrolls" with Humphrey Bogart and Barbara Stanwyck. Bogey plays the part Vincent Jory created on the stage, and Barbara has the role Elizabeth Bergner is still playing. Alexis plays the other girl. "The one who's in love with Bogart. I have an idea some way this play will be much better on the screen than it was on the stage."

"UP IN CENTRAL PARK," Mike Todd's widely publicized musical, will very likely be bought by Paramount by the time this appears in print. The asking price is over $100,000, and since Mike thought he might like to produce it himself he'll get his price.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: A few weeks ago George Murphy wrenched his shoulder badly. He found an old formula his father, Mike Murphy, used when he was track coach and famous athletic trainer. George had the prescription filled and it helped. Now he has decided to go into the liniment business, believe it or not, and he'll manufacture it under the name of "Mike Murphy's Liniment." One way of helping suffering humanity, I say.

LOOKS AS IF the exodus to Broadway is on again. Spencer Tracy and Rosalind Russell are flirting with stage offers for this year. Roz is more than flirting. She has bought the stage right to Louise Randall Pierson's Hollywood story,

"We'll visit you every day. It's warm in here!"

"Who Was I Born?"—and this is the play she wants to do in New York. Spencer Tracy, also bitten by the footlight bug, is in Arizona at this writing but he's heading to New York to meet with a stage producer. Spence hasn't faced the footlights since 1930, when he left "The Last Mile" for the movies.

DON'T BE SURPRISED IF

Susan Peters' husband, Dick Quine, gets the Victor Mature role in "Tars and Spars," the Coast Guard show.

WE HEAR so many cracks taken at our industry that those of us who have grown up with the picture business feel a gratification in the speech made by Sen. Chandler of Kentucky, and written into the Congressional Record, praising Warner Bros. The occasion was the presentation to Gen. George Marshall, chief of staff of the Army, of $7,000,000, raised for Army Emergency Relief from the film, "This Is the Army." Since the picture opened in 1943 it has played in 12,000 theaters and more than 50,000,000 people have paid nearly $85,000,000 admissions to see it.

SNAPSOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Angela Lansbury, youngest actress ever to win an Academy nomination is admitting her heart is long to Lt. Bob Mackey. At the moment he is a pilot on a B-29; the stepson of Clark Gable. Capt. Alfred Lukas son of Mrs. Rita Gable, was married in Washington last week to Societte Dorothy Ann Smith. Gloria Vanderbilt has reservations at Reno and is on her way there. She'll get her divorce there. Tom Pat De Cadeo instead of Las Vegas. Sgt. Ben Gage, who had many swim champ Esther Williams when she is free, has composed three songs in her honor. Jerry Asher of the Warner praisery department, was robbed. His radio and all the gifts Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and other stars he represented gave him, were taken. Greer Garson still has a day and night nurse and her doctor says she is not only suffering from a strep throat but from a bad case of anemia; the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Cobb, are in San Francisco a few days on their honeymoon. They'll be back next week; Gloria Dickson, whose career started so promisingly, has lost pounds and is ready to return to the screen. She is a very good actress; Singer Lou Noble and his wife expect the stock late this summer. Distributed by King Features Synd. Inc.

NEW YORK, March 5—As a girl who has no parlor tricks (I can't even do the one where you burn a hole in your friend's handkerchief and it turns out to be the ace of hearts), I am simply green with jealousy over the dazzling talents of a young man I have just heard about. I mean whom I have just heard.

He is a Lana Turner officer in the Navy. When his ship puts into port it is his cheerful custom to be the nearest hardware store—accompanied by several companions who never tire of this form of merriment—purchase an electric light bulb of high wattage, and eat it on the spot.

Often a young lady waiting on the counter in such an establishment faints dead away at the sight of this unusual gustation, and this adds to the piquancy of the procedure. The talented young officer also munches on broken window panes, spare test tubes and old razor blades.

Quite frequently after downing a dry Martini in a gay saloon, he nibbles the cocktail glass right down to the stem, a feat which has caused even bartenders to elevate their eyebrows.

I asked a friend of the young officer how he manages to digest these unconventional sustenance, and his friend replied: "Well, he has trained himself to eat things like that. He has to be careful, though, about the way he swallows glass. If it went down the wrong way it might prove harmful."

My personal hunch is that even going down the right way it might prove harmful, but I am not going to mention it and spoil anybody's fun.

CAN'T SAY I ADORE Lana Turner's new tucked-under-the-hairdo; it doesn't do justice to her glamor. At lunch the other day, Ann Sheridan and I were talking about how beautiful Lana is from every possible angle, and Annie said she hoped Lana would get the "Forever Amber" plum, because she thought she'd be perfect for it. Annie, of course, being one cinema dazzer who doesn't privately think that all the other movie queens are hags.

I am wowed to death about progress. Every time I read a magazine article on the post-war world, chills run up and down my spine and a nagging sepulchral voice whispers in my ear, "You won't like it; you won't like it!"

Science is fine in its place, I always say, but I often have quite a time reconciling what is good for me with what I desire or admire.

I have an unquenchable premonition that many of the post-war miracles will be wasted on me. Perhaps when the saleslady in the smart salon shows me a dress made of purest coal, I will murmur from force of habit, "But I had in mind something in silk."

Quite probably, I will not want to live in a pre-fabricated house, and I can state unequivocally that I am not going to like transparent plastic furniture, no matter what.

I guess life is going to pass me by. I can see myself, in 1955, sitting doggedly on my Victorian sofa (having just refused an invitation to lunch in London and dine in Bombay) searching frantically for the words to a verse of my childhood which begins: "Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight."

I DO NOT CARE for broccoli, rabbit stew or Arturo De Cordova, but I am simply crazy about strawberries Romanoff, curried shrimp and Gregory Peck. . . . An expert in such matters informed me the other day that beer was less fascinating than ginger ale, soda pop or any cocktail you can name. . . . I am going to stop going to dog shows. I always almost come home with 17 new assorted, irresistible canines.

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: Judge Nelson Brown, senior justice of the Suffolk Superior Court, is so highly esteemed in the legal profession that prosecuting attorneys as well as counsel who appear frequently on the defense of criminal cases are jubilant when he is in charge—as he is now and will be until June—of dispositions and assignments.

THE NOTED JURIST could be the counterpart, to hear the boys of Barristers' Row rave, of Ben Ames Williams' great character Judge Mark Worth, in the Williams' epic novel "Time of Peace" . . . In fact, one of the more lucid prosecuting attorneys jotted down a few descriptive lines from Mr. Williams' characterization of his hero judge. The prosecutor says that Judge Brown's judicial mien will not be better described than in the novelist's words, to wit: ". . . that frown of concentration, of clear, cold intelligence, concerned only with fact and demonstrable truth" . . . We'd like to meet His Honor—not professionally, naturally—one day.

THIS YARN is going the rounds, and, in the hope that it has not been printed in the New Yorker—here goes: In Little Rhode Island—and have you heard the fast-becoming popular song about our neighbor state?—the 10,000th WAC was chosen recently to the huzzahs of the populace of Pawtucket and the huzzannahs of the WAC recruiting staff. . . . She was a tiny girl, this 10,000th WAC, just about able to qualify for height. . . . Nonetheless, Pawtucket tossed the wartime equivalent of ticker tape as she passed, and bands played her to the railroad station.

THE CO-OPERATIVE police of her next stop—a city not a million miles from Boston—were only too pleased to carry on the greeting as the little WAC proceeded on her journey to the Southwest. . . . They agreed to meet her at the station. . . . So the little WAC arrived at the depot. . . . She was amazed to see squadrons of the friendly city's "finest" dominating the terminal and stretching out into the street. . . . And the young lady was truly overwhelmed.

ONE HUNDRED strong, the officers were a fine display. . . .

But the 10,000th WAC noticed that they were peering over her head in the direction of the train. . . . It turned out—as you must have guessed—that the orders were snafu-ed. . . . The way the message came over the telephone, the request from the WAC recruiters was interpreted as asking a bodyguard for 10,000 WACs, instead of the one 10,000th.

UNLESS plans were changed in Mickey Redstone's week-end in New York, the new line of beautiful chorus girls, including pretty, blonde Jean Kayton, is playing its last show at the famous night club. . . . Deanna Durbin is being rushed by the Crane man who fathered Lana Turner's babe after a short-lived experiment in matrimony. . . . Steve, wasn't it? . . . George Auld tells the story of a man in an insane asylum who sat fishing over a flower bed. . . . A visitor, wishing to be friendly, asked: "How many have you caught today?" . . . "You're the ninth," replied the inmate.

CHARLIE LANES' customers at the Music Box should ask him to tell his hilarious story of the two Irishmen who were discussing the war ("We can't") . . . A Boston nightspot with a club license is being offered for sale. . . . It's the first case of its kind since the Byrnes curfew. . . . However, the price of the place seems to have advanced $9000 since it was offered to another possible customer three months ago.

SPEAKING of business, many of the cafeterias in Times sq. are removing their stools because people, when they are sitting, dawdle over their food. . . . Those "American stomachs" the radio announcers are warning you against should be developed quickly in the Times or Dimes sq. area.

DON PRINCE, the RKO press-agent in these parts, has collaborated with Ottilie Riley, wife of Billy Riley, the Boston newspaperman, on a magazine story called "Living Alone—and Loathing It" . . . Mrs. Riley's husband, Bill, was called into service two months ago and it was then—and not until then—(says Mrs. Riley) that she learned how many types of unsuspected "wolves" there were in the world (and in Cambridge, where she lives, particularly). . . . It's a new approach to an understanding of the problem of "service widows," the collaborators think, and there may be a movie in it. ("Down to the Sea in Ships" had a crack at the subject, but in an entirely different motivation).

WASHINGTON, March 5—A furtive-eyed messenger has just come in with a batch of new messages from our Mrs. Janet Green who is down in Mexico City covering the Inter-American Conference for this column.

This stuff is hotter than Chili because Mrs. Green is a lady who gets around. She is having her copy shot across the border by plane in the custody of a special courier.

In her second report to the pelting people of America, Mrs. Green writes:

Rep. Luther A. Johnson, of Texas, came down on the special car reserved for delegates, Mexican officials came aboard at the border and went out of their way to make everything pleasant.

"At various points of interest, the train was stopped and the passengers were taken on short tours. In most places huge, cheering crowds greeted us at the depot.

"Well, we stopped at one town—and habit proved too strong for Mr. Johnson. As you know he has been campaigning every two years for the last 20 years to retain his seat in Congress.

"When the townspeople began waving and cheering, Mr. Johnson couldn't resist the temptation. He stepped out on the platform and delivered a stirring political speech!"

TO WHICH MRS. GREEN appends this comment: "However, we will not be able to tell, until after the ballots are counted, how many Mexican votes we won!"

Mrs. Green next sounds a sombre note:

"We have been waiting for the United States delegates to get really into the atmosphere of things, and also cement inter-American relations, by donning sombreros. But, if you wish my opinion, they are being very contrary."

"Not only have they eschewed sombreros—but they run all over town, in the hot sun, completely hatless!"

MRS. GREEN, who is usually put out about something, indulges in a bit of acerbity: "You know those silly stories about Michael J. McDermott will be omitted for a few days, beginning tomorrow, owing to the illness of George Dixon being on his way out as the State Department's chief of current information; that he was being shoved out by Archibald MacLeish, who heads the department's public and cultural relations?

THE WASHINGTON SCENE

Well, Mike is not under MacLeish to begin with. He has a separate and distinct bureau. He does not even have to listen to Archibald's poetry unless he wishes.

"And, unless Secretary of State Stettinius is very two-faced, Mike stands as high with him. The other morning Mr. Stettinius took time before breakfast to dictate a note of appreciation to Mike for the fine work he is doing here."

MRS. GREEN reports that the City of San Francisco has sent a number of observers to Mexico City to get a line on how things are being handled. San Francisco is going to be up against a far worse overcrowding problem for its big United Nations conference April 23. Mrs. Green continues:

"The San Franciscans are particularly interested in how the Mexicans worked out the housing problem. One thought they have in mind—which they are not voicing too loudly now—is to have San Francisco declared 'out of bounds' for military personnel during the conference."

"I am sure I don't know how this would work out. San Francisco is just packed with service men."

MRS. GREEN reports that the most amazed man with the American delegation is Col. Harold (Hardrock) Beckley, who is directing press arrangements.

It seems Col. Beckley is astounded by the way the Mexican government permits the newspaper reporters to work unhindered. "I hate to bring this up because it is not pleasant pointing out that a foreign country has broader ideas about the freedom of the press."

It seems the Mexicans have very advanced ideas about recording history-making events pictorially—and I wish I could say the same for some of our governmental big shots here. Many seem to proceed on the theory that they have done a fine day's work any time they succeed in keeping news and pictures from the public.

Reports Mrs. Green:

"The photographers are permitted to work all over the chamber where the sessions are being held. This amazes Col. Beckley because photographers are never permitted on the floor of the House or Senate."

ON ONE POINT Mrs. Green seems to be taking a narrow attitude. She complains that all the meetings are being conducted in Spanish.

"Furthermore," she adds, "the majority of press releases are in Spanish. But, even translated, they do not give much information!"

WELL, as the old Polish government-in-exile always says: "Crimea doesn't pay!"

"He's cute, isn't he?"

Facial Spanking Good Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

IT TAKES MORE than a beautiful figure to make a beautiful girl. How many times have you heard it said . . . "She's grand from the neck down . . . but above the neck, me oh my, not so good."

True you spend much time keeping the Venus dimensions on the intriguing side . . . you watch those bulges with an eagle eye . . . you eliminate this or that edible when the scales tip above the allotted weight . . . but do you spend as much time and give as serious consideration to your face? Now, do you?

So many girls we know spend so much of themselves on clothes . . . exacting the right outfit for this or that occasion . . . yet they whistle through their facial routine, expecting Nature to take its own course with the most priceless possession they have . . . a face. They cleanse their complexion and think that is sufficient. They never dream that the eyes need a little extra devotion . . . or the complexion, itself, needs a little more pampering and beauty coaxing.

And, if they haven't a blemish, they seem sure their skin is on the sunny side. And sometimes they ridicule others who make much to-do about their complexion. But time usually tells . . . and it does. And the cliché about an ounce of prevention proves itself right again.

EASILY ACHIEVED

Sure enough, a few wrinkles begin to trace their lacy pattern around the eyes, the mouth and the throat . . . the three most devastating spots where rough and slipshod care usually reveals itself. Just as it is good for a child to get a spanking once in a while . . . they are not always perfect, you know, even though a doting mother thinks her progeny is God's perfect little child . . . it is good for the face to get a spanking occasionally . . . an honest-to-goodness thrashing to rouse it from its lethargy and look of dull behavior.

And such a much needed facial spanking can be easily achieved for the beauty of your face and the preservation of its loveliness through a simple circulation rouser . . . an abrasive preparation which, when rubbed into the complexion, forces the blood into the cheeks. Because it is the blood, you know, which carries nourishment to your skin. Friction is half the battle . . . not only of scrupulous cleanliness for the face . . . but for healthy, robust, vital complexion.

For the name of this facial circulation rouser, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CIGARETS: CONSIDERATION
During the cigaret shortage, you'll certainly be more popular with your friends if you decline their cigarettes.—Mrs. Beckman. Copyright, 1945, King Features Synd., Inc.

FOR PIN-UP BEAUTY, a girl needs a face as well as a beautiful figure . . . a face that's as thrilling to look upon as shapely curves. Columbia Star Janet Blair presents unmistakable evidence that she is tops as a Hollywood pin-up cutie because she has that envious combination of both . . . a glorious figure and a heavenly face. Let a facial circulation rouser stir your complexion out of its winter lethargy into the spritely radiance of approaching spring.

My Day

WASHINGTON, Sunday—We spent yesterday evening looking over some of the things which the President and our daughter brought home with them from their recent trip.

King Ibn Saud had brought some very beautiful native garments when he came to visit the President. The headresses worn by the men are of such fine wool material that they would make wonderful shawls.

If it were not for the embroidery, the soft material would go through a lady's ring—and that, I was taught in my youth, was the test of a really good shawl of that particular variety.

The ladies' embroidered silks have very wonderful gold and colored embroidery, and are a gorgeous combination of colors.

The gold bracelet sent me by Emperor Haile Selassie is as soft and pliable as any material, and he gave my daughter a very beautiful string of gold beads.

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

IT WAS VERY PLEASANT earlier in the day to see again Dr. Levering Tyson, president of Muhlenberg College, who brought his son here for luncheon. The latter is on his way to the Columbia Midshipman's School, and I am sure he is going to find the sea a congenial atmosphere.

AT 4 O'CLOCK the boys and 40 girls who are attending the five-day Science Talent Institute in Washington came to see the White House, and I had the pleasure of spending a few minutes with them. They represent the top young high school scientists, having been chosen from among 15,000 high school students.

In between times I saw a number of other people, and had a few guests at tea.

Sparkling Items for Brides

By BETTINA BEDWELL

TIME runs out for the Easter bride to get that trousseau collected, and not the least of her concerns is what she's going to pick to wear at home in those first honied days. Negligee, hostess gown, pajamas, robes are all to be had, and some of the most glamorous come in simple, tailored styles.

Sketched is one of the best of the new at-home gowns for the bride, a charming practical model. This robe, chosen by Dolores Moran, Warner Bros. beautiful star, for her own personal wardrobe, can be had by the rest of us just as well.

The top, which is tailored and fitted, is made of black chiffon and white the skirt and sash are powder blue crepe, which also makes the infinitely flattering fischi in the front of the waist. Gold mules of latticed kid go with this gown.

Onions Help

By MARTHA LEE

PERENNIAL STAR of the vegetable bin is the onion. It's a long-time favorite that lasts throughout the year. The onion comes on the market in the fall, and weathers the whole winter when stored in a cool, well-ventilated place.

A good onion is notable for sweetness. Try this test some time: Slice an onion, hold your nose, and taste a little nibble. Crunch it in your teeth. Savor the flavor on your tongue. You'll find, when the odor is shut out, an onion is as sweet as sugar. But restore the odor—and it is an onion once again.

This blend of sweet taste and pungent odor makes the onion incomparable in cooking. Where would the green salad be without the onion—where the turkey stuffing?—How pallid the pot of soup—how insipid the old-fashioned stew!

SPANISH ONIONS ON RICE

As a seasoning it has no peer. But as a dish itself the onion also has great merit. Try this, for instance: Cut 5 medium-sized onions in eighths and slice 1 green pepper in thin strips. Saute until tender in 1/4 cup margarine or butter. To this add an 11-ounce can of cream of tomato soup—the condensed kind—and 1/2 teaspoon of salt. Heat in the skillet until the soup and onion have given the best of themselves to each other. Serve over a mound of fluffy cooked rice, with crisp salad and hot rolls. Your family will vote this a noble dish, will call your meatless menus magic!

CHICKEN STEW

2 3/4 to 4 lb. 1 cup thin chickens . . . cream or 6 potatoes, . . . rich milk sliced . . . Salt and pepper 5 onions, sliced Minced parsley Cold water 6 to 8 crackers 4 tbsp. butter

Cut chicken for stewing. In a stewing kettle blanch alternate layers of chicken, slices of potatoes and thinly sliced onion. Cover with cold water. Simmer gently until chicken is tender. Add butter in small bits and cream or milk. Season with salt and pepper and minced parsley. Split crackers, moisten in cold milk, and reheat in stew. Makes 8 servings.

STUFFED ONIONS

Remove skins from large onions and boil in salted water 30 minutes. Drain and cool. Remove center of onion without destroying shape or outer ring. Make filling by combining equal parts of cold chicken, chopped celery, and finely chopped onion centers. Season with salt and pepper and moisten with cream and melted butter or margarine. Refill the cavities and cover top with buttered crumbs. Place in baking dish with a little chicken stock or water and bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.), until onions are cooked, about 15 minutes.

ORANGE AND ONION SALAD

Select small seedless oranges, if possible. Pare and slice. Peel and slice small sweet onions. Arrange alternate slices orange and onion on lettuce or other greens. Serve with French dressing.

MEXICAN SALAD

1 1/2 cup olive oil 3 slices onion 1 cup diced bread 1/2 cup diced celery 1 pimiento, diced 1 cup diced cooked potato 1/2 cup finely chopped onion 1/2 cup finely chopped carrot 2 tbsp. minced green pepper 1 cup cooked string beans 1 tsp. salt 1 tsp. chili powder 2 tbsp. vinegar

Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil, add onion slices, and cook the diced bread until light brown. Remove from heat, remove onion slices, and add remaining oil and ingredients and mix well. Serve in large salad bowl with lettuce or watercress. Makes 6 servings.

Fashion

BOTH THE PRINT and diamond earrings accentuate the daisy theme of this Natalie Renke original . . . for scrolled on the bright red ground beside the daisies is the old mockery of their petals . . . "He loves me . . . he loves me not." If you look close enough, perhaps you can read the words. The daisy pattern of the diamond earrings and the bracelet, a Van Cleet and Arpels design . . . is perfect foil for this unusual summer print.—R. M.

MUSTEROLE

WOMEN OF BOSTON!

We Must Meet Our Fat
Salvage Quota for March!

THE NATION'S fat-salvage goal for March is 26,550,000 lbs. To realize that tremendous amount, this community—and every other in the nation—must fill its quota. Won't you go all out to help put the drive over the top this month?

Remember! Your country is depending on those used fats to help make medicines, parachutes, gun powder, synthetic rubber, soaps for military and civilian use, and hundreds of other essentials.

Check your own savings by the check list below. Maybe you've been overlooking some of these sources. (Remind your neighbors to do their bit, too!)

Approved by OPA and WFA. Paid for by Industry.

HOW TO GET EXTRA RED POINTS!

1. SAVE all bits of fat you trim from meat, and fat scraps left on plates. Keep them in a small bowl and, once a week, melt them down.
2. SCRAPE pans before washing them. No amount is too small to be of use...even a tablespoon helps!
3. SKIM stews, soups, and gravies while they cook. Afterwards, chill them and scoop off the fat.
4. SAVE water in which you cook hot dogs, sausages, and ham. Chill, and scoop off the fat.
5. KEEP the can (any tin can will do) on the back of the stove where it's handy. When can is full, take it to your butcher and get 2 red points and 4¢ for every pound. Start today!

New Vatican Stamps Show Olive Branch

NEW YORK, March 5 (INS)—The olive branch, a symbol of peace, appears on a new issue of Vatican City postage stamps. It was revealed by Marquis Camillo Serafini, governor of the Vatican City state.

The announcement, reported by the OWI, said some of the new issue bore the Papal coat of arms and others the head of Pope Pius XII, with the olive branches forming a decorative frame.

"I was thinkin'..."

by IZZY ORT

If yers trooly appears alightly bruised, battered and beaten in spirit, it's coz this curfew bizness has hit us on the chin with a wallop that would do justice to John L. Sullivan, Jack Dempsey and Joe Louis rolled into one! Yes-sir, fokes, when I say it hurts, I mean IT HURTS. . . There is one big compensation, tho, that makes the whole thing okay with me. I mean, if it is gonna help the war effort, is going to save a life or shorten this awful war by even ONE SECOND, then yers trooly is for this curfew one hundred percent, and I don't care who knows it! On my scale of human judgement, if a moment of suffering in a foxhole can be balanced off by cancelling a hundred thousand hours of fun and luxury in a nite club, then that's the way it should be. If one of our boys, indirectly as it may seem, is spared a few minutes of torture in a hospital tent on two jims, if one more lad comes back alive, or one day sooner, then God bless the curfew! . . . So really, fokes, if I look down it's Jess coz it's natural for an old business wolf like meself to moan and weep a bucket of tears when the gate receipts get sliced pretty bad right out of a clear sky. Actually, I'm proud that it's me own chosen kind of bizness, me own worn andavelled wallet, that's called upon to make a sacrifice, however insignificant, for the good of the boys over there. South Boston Hails New Carney Hospital

There was rejoicing in South Boston today over announcement by Archbishop Cushing that the new Carney Hospital will be located in the district and that a drive for funds to build the hospital will begin soon.

The archbishop said the life of South Boston was closely connected with Carney Hospital and that he, from his earliest days, had been cared for there.

Crowley Quizzed On Lend-Lease

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Public hearings on a bill to extend the lend-lease act one year were resumed today by the House Foreign Affairs Committee at the behest of Republicans, who said they feared lend-lease might be turned into a postwar European aid program.

Administration leaders have been pressing for prompt enactment of the bill to prolong the life of the act which expires June 30.

Foreign Economic Administrator Leo Crowley was summoned for today's hearings with the expectation that Republicans would question him about Administration plans to aid reconstruction of Europe.

Mell Choice to Win Over Singleton in Arena Go

By JACK CONWAY

RACING HAS ITS events for two-year-olds, and now professional boxing has come up with a ten-round bout between two teen-age scrappers, Gus Mell, 19, of Montreal and Benny Singleton, 18, of Waterbury, Ct., as the feature of its show at the Arena tonight. These youthful mitt flingers have shown an abundance of ring promise.

Singleton did not lose a bout until he was outscored by Johnny Cool at New Bedford. Singleton won the New England lightweight title which was considered quite an achievement in the days when Matty Baldwin, Eddie Murphy, Gilbert Gallant, Johnny Gallant, Joe Egan, Steve Kennedy, Fred dy Yello, George (Kid) Lee and other sturdy fighting men were throwing leather in local rings.

Benny Singleton

The lightweight class has usually produced action bouts as the contestants are not so big, while they have enough poundage to land resounding blows. Some of the best punching ever witnessed in this city was done by Charley White, Chicago lightweight, who used to knock over his rivals with a left hook to the jaw.

I do not believe either Singleton or Mell rate with the oldtime New England champions. They are still lacking in experience, but with time and more ring bouts they have a chance of making the grade.

Mell Makes Appeal
GUS MELL HAS made a hit with the fans in his Boston appearances. In his last tussle here, he shaded Vince Dell Orto after a hard battle. Lulu Costantino was originally billed to meet Mell, but he was obliged to withdraw from the bout on account of illness. It was well for Mell that Costantino was sick as the Canadian is not yet polished enough to beat a boxer of Costantino's ability.

It will be a different story with Mell meeting Singleton. The latter is also in the nursery stage of the fistic arts, and so the milling should be fairly close. Mell will enter the ring 10 to 8 favorite and should edge out the decision.

In time the victor of tonight's bouts will be ready to clash with stars like Willie Joyce, conqueror of Ike Williams; Beau Jack and Bob Montgomery. Joyce proved his ring class by his fine showing against Williams. Beau Jack and Montgomery are in the Army and they will not be permitted to

Moore vs. St. Angelo

IN THE eight-round semi-final, Tommy Moore of South Boston will have Curly St. Angelo of New York as an opponent. This should be a good fight. Moore has looked impressive in recent starts, while St. Angelo has a fine New York record.

In the six-rounders, Johnny Marra, South Boston, will oppose Billy Nappier, South End, while Pedro Crivello, Cambridge, will try to win from Mickey Paul, South End.

CAPT. SIGOURNEY AGAIN

Andre Sigourney has been re-elected captain of the Milton Academy wrestling squad for next season. He hails from Nahant. George Whitney of Milton is alternate captain.

Hawks Eye B's 4th Spot

By BILL GRIMES

Through no fault of their own, the Bruins still are in fourth place but from here to the wire, they will do well to focus their attention on the Blackhawks, who beat the Canadiens last night, and are now only two points behind them.

The Rossmen dropped their 15th straight game to the Red Wings last night in Detroit, by the one-sided score of 10 to 4. But, as was the case last week when the Hawks stopped the Blue Shirts in New York, the Maple Leafs came to their rescue last night by beating Rangers 6 to 3.

Unless a miracle occurs, the Rangers will eliminate themselves from the Stanley Cup series this week. They are scheduled to play in Chicago, Detroit and Montreal on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, respectively, and at home on Sunday with the Canucks.

The Bruins have two games "in hand" on Rangers and the Blackhawks. How much they'll be able to cash in on those extra games remains to be seen. They still have another game to play with Detroit, along with home and home series against Toronto, Montreal and Chicago. Due to early season superiority, the Rossmen hold 5 to 3 edges over the Maple Leafs and the Hawks, but they haven't annexed any more points from Canadiens than they have from the Red Wings.

After that 10 to 4 thing last night, Manager Art Ross probably is contemplating some more changes in the Bruin lineup. He'll make an allowance for the absence of "Dit" Clapper but he'll probably tee off on some of the boys before tomorrow night's game with the Maple Leafs.

It's all very well to say that Paul Bibeault didn't have anyone out in front of him. All season the Bruin forwards have refrained from checking back, thereby putting it up to the outer defenses and the goalies.

Some of the alibi-ing forwards stated, just before Bibeault joined the club, that they had lost confidence in Harvey Bennett, Nice boys. They probably passed the buck to a 19-year-old kid in order to cover up their own shortcomings.

Harvey Bennett has been in the nets in 22 games for the Bruins this season and was beaten for 99 goals. But, he stepped from junior hockey to the N. H. L. without any pre experience. In the 21 games Bibeault has played for the Bruins he has been nicked for 92 tallies, despite the fact that he had three years in the league before coming to the Bruins.

And, even more important, now that the chips are down, Bennett has improved his goal tending finesse since he joined the Olympics. He kicked out enough shots to pull the fies through to the Eastern League. It is a time when the Baltimore Blades were threatening to dislodge Coach Hago Harrington's charges. And, he was between the pipes in the two play off games the Olympics have won in the past week.

Weekend Sports

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Gunder Hagg (finished last in five-man field in Zampieri invitation mile at IC4-A indoor games. He was timed in 4:31 against 4:16.4 for Jim Rafferty who was first. Army won team title with record 73.4 points.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Sam Speed won the Jacksonville open golf tournament with a 72-hole total of 266 for his sixth victory of the winter campaign.

MEXICO CITY—Hy-Hustle, ridden by Don Meade, won $6,000-added Jockey Club Mexican Stakes at Hipodromo de las Americas racetrack.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex.—Orion, $700, beat favored Parasang in the Juana's six furlong Camarillo Handicap.

KANSAS CITY—Ed Quick, Missouri, beat his teammate, Bill Bangert, National AAU indoor shotput champion, with toss of 52 ft. 1 inch for Big Six indoor record.

CHICAGO—Cubs released outfielder Ival Goodman to manage their Portsmouth club in Piedmont League.

NEW YORK—Gretchen Merrill of Boston won national ladies' senior figure skating championship for third straight year.

MANCHESTER, N.H.—Middlebury won intercollegiate ski meet on Big Bomley with 254.8 points.

Hagg at Quonset

Gunder Hagg whose lone Boston appearance at Harvard Stadium in 1943 resulted in a new American mile record (4:05.3) is tentatively scheduled to race at Quonset Naval base in Rhode Island one week from tomorrow night.

The Seabees are building a special five-lap-to-the-mile track for the occasion, and it is hoped to match Hagg with Rafferty, Elaw, Simms and Burnham.

Gretchen Bids For N. A. Title

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Four of the leading figure skaters from the United States and Canada compete at Madison Square Garden tonight in the North American ladies' singles championship. Main competition is expected to be between Gretchen Merrill of Boston and Barbara Ann Scott of Toronto.

Miss Merrill won the U. S. senior title for the third time on Saturday here.

Other U. S. contestants are Janette Ahrens, Madelon Olson and Margaret Grant, all from St. Paul.

Tech Relay Champs End Season

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Tech's undefeated relayists, national and intercollegiate two-mile champions, will have one more whirl at indoor competition before calling it quits for the winter season. That will come at the New York K. of C. games next Saturday, and Coach Oscar Hedlund may use the team at the mile distance, at which they were victorious in Millrose, BAA, New York AC and New England championships meets.

Tech had no trouble in the IC4-A title chase. Joe Shea took the lead on the third lap, and the Engineers were never headed thereafter. Charlie Goldie and John Serrie increased the margin so that anchor man Rovey Crimin was not extended. Their times—Shea 2:01.8, Goldie 2:00.5, Serrie 1:58.3, Crimin 2:01.7. "Tech could have done 7.55 if they were pushed," said Tufts Coach Dinger Dussault.

Bill Casey, Tech sprinter, completed in the IC's a few hours after completing an 18-hour ride from Chicago . . . Tufts' George Kennedy was held up at naval quarters in New York, didn't have a chance to compete in the 600. Nor did he run the relay because Ray Southwick "pulled" again, shortly after the start of the 2-mile chase, and Tufts was forced to withdraw . . . Kennedy has received his commission, is lost to Tufts . . . Payson Luce was sixth in the shot, Alan Wolozin tied for sixth in the high jump and George Bailey just missed out in the pole vault . . . Duncan Blanchard led the mile field at the three-quarters mark, then faded. He's been on furlough . . . Tufts will enter a 2-mile relay in the New York K. of C. meet. Wolozin, Bailey, Luce and Niessen also will go along for the special events.

Forrest Elaw will whip Jim Rafferty in the Columbian mile next week. That is the prediction of Dinger Dussault. "He'll get down to 4:11," said the Tufts coach, whose predictions on the IC4-A meet were almost 100 per cent correct. "He didn't realize his kick was as potent as Raf's. He'll make his bid earlier next Saturday." Elaw and Rafferty finished practically in a dead heat in the IC4-A invitation mile. Critics say it will take Gunder Hagg at least two weeks to catch up with Elaw and Rafferty, though the Swede was a true sportsman in agreeing to run after only three workouts at Columbia's track.

Pics Win, 4 to 2, and Qualify for Finals

Now that the Olympics have won two U. S. A. H. A. playoff games, they will—your guess it—return to league competition. Yes, the conquerors of Baltimore Blades 5-1 and Washington Lions 4-2 will play the Falcons in Philadelphia Wednesday night in their regular league wind-up.

The 4-2 victory over the Lions was registered at the Arena, and a Sunday night gathering of 6,427 well-wishers had plenty of cause for cheering.

First, Marcel Fillion, who trailed Brennan, Kopak and Hamel in scoring over the regular season, pulled the "hat trick."

Second, the game was rough and wild-swinging, climax coming when Al Rittinger broke his stick over Chirp Brencley's head which precipitated a free-for-all.

Third, the victory makes Haggo Harrington's Pies heavy favorites to cop their first playoff title.

There was no scoring in the first period which was spiced by a Rittinger-Nicowski jam on which both were penalized. But after 3:40 of the second period Brennan and Kopak laid the rubber on Fillion's stick and the latter converted neatly. Kopak made an individual dash down the rink a moment later but the score was voided because of an offside. However, Fillion, aided by Brennan and Rittinger, dunked his second goal at 11:36.

The Lions roared back. Brencley barely missed after a fine rink-length dash, and finally Percival gave the visitors their first score at 16:46. But less than two minutes later Theo Hamel got it back unassisted. Fillion's third goal came at 11:43 in the final period.

The Rittinger-Brency jam occurred early in the third period. There was a jam around the Lions' net and when the action had cleared away Rit broke his stick over Brencley's noggin. Nicowski raced to Brencley's aid.

De LaSalle Wins Catholic Title

De LaSalle Academy of Newport, R. I., defeated St. John's of Worcester, 50-39, at the Mechanics Building yesterday to take the 12th annual New England Catholic Interscholastic Basketball Tournament sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization of the Archdiocese of Boston, before a crowd of 800 fans.

Sacred Heart of Holyoke took the consolation prize by defeating St. John's Prep. of Danvers 49-43. Francis O'Neill of Sacred Heart set a new tourney record by hooping 30 points in a single game.

The Most Reverend Richard James Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, was present to award the trophies to the winning team. Mayor Kerrigan of Boston also made a speech praising all teams in the league.

With Capt. Jim Brennan and Center John Hayes scoring 36 points between them, De LaSalle Academy managed to keep the lead all during the championship game.

Fran O'Neill leading the attack for Holyoke, brought his mates from behind in the third period to defeat the hard-fighting team from Danvers. With one senior and four sophomores, Sacred Heart of Holyoke snatched two sensational wins, Friday and yesterday.

Iowa Clinches Western Title

CHICAGO, March 5 (INS)—After 45 years of trying, the University of Iowa yesterday held undisputed possession of the Western Conference basketball title.

Twice the Iowa Hawkeyes have shared the championship with other members of the Big Ten circuit, but this time it held a clear title to the crown.

Possession came Saturday night in Iowa City when, before a crowd of 14,400 fans who overflowed the Iowa Field House, the Hawks defeated Illinois 43 to 37. The victory gave them a record of 11 wins and 1 defeat for an average of .917.

Ohio State took second place, having finished its schedule a week ago with a record of 10 victories and 4 defeats. The Iowa and the Buckeyes from Ohio did not meet during Conference play, but each met and defeated Illinois, who finished in third spot with seven victories and five defeats.

Concord, N.H., Angler Wins Trout Award

CONCORD, N. H.—A prediction that anglers would begin taking outside brown trout in New Hampshire waters because of persistent stocking of the species for several years was borne out in Field and Stream magazine's announcement of big-fish prize winners for 1944. Archie White caught a 10-pound 8-ounce brown in Hubbard brook, Rindge, early last season.

Quincy Five to Give Somerville a Battle

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Coach Vin Cronin's defending champion Somerville high school basketball team will be up against a cracker-jack Quincy high five in the final tilt of Thursday night's four game opening session in the Class A competition of the Eastern Mass. Interscholastic Tournament more easily recognized as the Tech Tourney—at the Garden.

Somerville, beaten only once last winter (in the New England finals) and once this year (just last week by Andover), has been installed favorite in the upper bracket of the court carnival.

Coach Cronin's crowd romped through the Greater Boston League with ease to clinch its invitation to the tourney. Its all veteran team of Ken Goodwin, George Hughes, Bob Pughatch, Al Perry, Rudy Antonelli and Ed Colbert, shuffling in and out of the line-up in a merry turn-over of positions for the sixth player, has played more on the fast North Station floor than any other team in the country.

QUINCY HAS PLENTY

But in the Granite City five, the defending champions will be facing no pop-overs. Coach Danny Alvino's boys have chalked up fourteen triumphs against but a single setback, but that Brockton defeat was later avenged. The Quincy fans have gone overboard for this plucky team so that they've been hanging on the rafters for every home game.

Quincy has tested the tricky, transparent Garden backboards once this season, trouncing Reading, unless Ossie Honkalehto, Normy Young, Buddy Paige, George Papile and John McKinnon are bothered too much by the record crowd, the Granite City team will give the defending champions a thorough testing.

Tournament Director Henry McCarthy in completing the Class A pairings for this afternoon release has pitted Durfee High of Fall River against Brockton in the opener, set for 6:30 p. m. This game will be split up by the Haverhill vs. New Bedford clash, slated to take over the boards at 7 p. m.

Newton vs. North Quincy, carded for 8:30, will share the second half twin bill with Quincy and Somerville.

Play in Class B will open the week-end of action Wednesday night and once again, Director McCarthy has shown sound sense in putting the out-of-town teams on first. . . the opening twin bill will pit Fairhaven against Framingham and defending champion Braintree against Natick. . . the second twin match Battlefront against Rockland and Winthrop against Lexington. . . the time schedule will be the same as in Class A, following along in the order named.

In the Boston school ranks, Director Joe McKenney, showing signs of a stiff sport campaign without an assistant, will send his basketball and trackmen into their finales. . . the Reggie trials will get underway Wednesday, continue Thursday and wind up Saturday at the Army. . . traditional rivals will clear up the court schedule Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

Winchester Curlers Win Stockton Cup

The Winchester curling team yesterday won the Stockton Cup by defeating Ardsley, N. Y., team, 12 to 10, at the Brookline Country Club tournament.

Earlier, Winchester defeated a team from Victoria, Quebec, 14-7, and Ardsley triumphed over the Montreal Thistle Club, 13-10.

The Hollowell Country Club won the Clyde Park Cup, a consolation prize, by defeating Hamilton, Ont., Thistle team, 16-10.

WINCHESTER SIGNS WHYTE

Dave Whyte, professional at the Ardsley Country Club, Ardsley-on-Hudson, New York, for 19 years, has been appointed to that position at the Winchester Country Club, succeeding Tom Howe, now in military service.

Jannazzo Collides With Van McNutt

PHILADELPHIA, March 5 (P)—Lizzy Jannazzo, former BA welterweight champion, says he expects to rely on solid punching instead of his usual jabbing technique to beat Van (Boob) McNutt, New York, in their 10-round feature bout at the Met tonight. Jannazzo, also a New Yorker, will be out to avenge the defeat of his stablemate, Johnny Walker, at the hands of McNutt, last fall. One of the Met's roughest matches.

Mario Ochoa, Cuban claimant of the light-heavyweight championship, will meet Johnny Flannery, Philadelphia, in the semi-windup.

Settle College Loop Races in 13 Sections

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—With the exception of a few scattered games and the N. C. A. A. and Madison Square Garden postseason tournaments, the 1945 college basketball season was over today.

Army's West Point Cadets featured the last outstanding Saturday of the season by beating Navy, 50 to 48, to win the mythical eastern championship. The Cadets, beaten only by Pennsylvania in the campaign's major upset, finished with 14 victories in 15 games and a record of 30 triumphs in their last 31 starts.

This is how the various sectional title races ended:

Champion—Runnerup
 Eastern Intercollegiate, Penn. Cornell
 Western Conference, Iowa, Ohio State
 Pacific Coast (Southern), UCLA, South Cal.
 Pacific Coast (Northern), Washington State and Oregon tied Big Six, Iowa State, Kansas

Majors Start; Fingers Crossed

Spring training opens Wednesday for the first of the 16 major league baseball clubs but the manpower situation remains as indefinite as it was January 1, according to the Associated Press.

Because Congress has taken no definite action on proposed "work or else" legislation, War Mobilizer Byrnes has been unable to give any definite word on what to expect.

Meanwhile, owners have gone ahead, announced signing of contracts and drawn up schedules of exhibition games but still have their fingers crossed.

Washington breaks the ice Wednesday when the batterymen report to Manager Ossie Bluege at College Park, Md. Owner Clark Griffith of the Senators has 24 of 36 men in the fold, most of any club.

Chicago's Cubs follow Thursday with their first drill at French Lick, Ind., where Manager Charley Grimm has been inspecting the grounds since Friday.

The New York Giants with six men on the dotted line and the Yankees with 16, both report Sunday, the Giants at Lakewood, N. J., and the Yanks at Atlantic City.

My Monday, March 19, all teams will be training.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Mrs. Payne Whitney's Four Freedoms, ridden by Eddie Arcaro, won $36,350 Widener Cup race at Hialeah.

THREE YEARS AGO—Ted Williams, Red Sox outfielder, said he planned to use more season of baseball before joining armed forces because he needed salary to meet financial obligations.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Josh Cody signed as football line coach at Temple University.

TEN YEARS AGO—Babe Ruth, in first workout with Braves at St. Petersburg, Fla., hit ball over right field fence.

Snead Captures Florida Open

JACKSONVILLE (INS)—Sammy Snead, sensational golfer from Hot Springs, Va., won his sixth winter championship when he shot a 66 to win the Jacksonville Open Golf tournament with a 286 total.

Bob Hamilton, national PGA titleholder from Chicago, won second place in the $5000 War Bond meet by posting a 67, giving him a 72-hole total of 270.

Sammy Byrd, Detroit; Ky. Laffoon, Chicago, and Bruce Coltart, Rochester, N. Y., tied for third place with 274's. Byrd had a 68 for the final round, Coltart a 69 and Laffoon a 72.

Two leading money winners of the winter circuit, Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., and Harold McSpaden, of Sanford, Me., followed with 275's. McSpaden, tied with Snead for the lead at the end of the third round, fared badly, shooting a 40-35-75.

TODAY'S HONOR ROLL OF CASUALTIES

"These laid the world away; poured out the red sweet wine of youth; gave up the years to be of work and joy, and that unhopd serene, that men call age; and those who would have been, their sons, they gave, their immortality."—(Rupert Brooke.)

The War Department today announced the names of 1898 soldiers KILLED IN ACTION in the European and Mediterranean areas, including 96 with next of kin residing in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Maine. Next of kin in all cases have been kept informed directly by the War Department of any change in status. In case of divergence between this list and information sent next of kin, the last telegram or letter from the department to next of kin is the final authority on the status of a soldier.

The Navy Department also announced the names of six casualties of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard with next of kin residing in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Blast Hidden Japs on Corregidor—A gun crew, part of a parachute artillery unit, blasts away at a cave on Corregidor in which a group of Japs took refuge. The Yanks, who dropped from planes onto the fortress island in Manila bay, were forced to fire pointblank into the rocky caverns which had been bored into the hillsides by the Japs.
